Coping with kidney disease? We're here for you.

Talk on the phone with someone who's been there.

The National Kidney Foundation (NKF) can connect you with another kidney patient who can:

- Listen to your concerns and support you
- Share their personal experience with kidney disease
- Answer questions about dialysis and transplant
- Share information and resources to help you
- Provide tools to help you find a living kidney donor

This one-on-one, confidential support is available to kidney patients in Stage 4 and 5, on dialysis or with a transplant. NKF also connects living kidney donors with people who are thinking about donating a kidney.
